

Rebuilding Arcade

In Preparation For Occupancy By the Fire Department

Workmen under the direction of Ervin Curtis, are carrying to completion the rebuilding of the old Spring Street Armory to accommodate the Fire Department. Members of the department have done the preliminary work and will continue to assist when possible.

The building, which may be ready for occupancy by the first of the year, will accommodate all the apparatus the department now owns and will leave room for expansion in the future. In addition to the apparatus floor and storage facilities, an adequate recreation room and sleeping quarters for the duty crew will be provided.

A concrete floor will be laid the length of the area intended for use of the trucks and three overhead doors will be cut into the front of the building to allow easy maneuvering of the trucks.

Plans have been discussed to place the Police Department in the present fire quarters when the move to the new building is made by Chief Van Russell and his men. The space would provide storage space for the cruiser car and patrol wagon as well as offices and a direct entrance from the offices into the cell block.

NATION STAGES BIG SURPRISE PARTY

Harry S. Truman, whose astounding election as President amazed the entire world

When 92.2 percent of the Nation's polling places had reported late yesterday, they showed a total popular vote of 45,300,212 in Tuesday's elections.

The total, considerably short of most estimates which ranged upward of 50,000,000, was divided as follows:
Truman 22,500,046
Dewey 20,738,731
Wallace 1,060,578
Thurmond 910,857

In the electoral college, the vote was 304 for Democrat Truman, 189 for Republican Dewey, 38 for States

Righter Thurmond and none for Wallace, the Progressive Party candidate.

By states, the division was 28 for Truman, 16 for Dewey and four for Thurmond.

There was a mathematical possibility of a change in three close States, California, Idaho and Indiana. Truman led in California by 1,788,165 to 1,739,886 for Dewey as the State's counting neared an end.

In Idaho, Truman was ahead 105 to 99,502 with 59 of the State's 834 precincts still to report. In Indiana the count was Truman 365,963 and Dewey 773,260 with 247 precincts missing out of 4056.

The Senate line-up changed from 51 Republicans and 45 Democrats to 54 Democrats and 42 Republicans.

The House list changed from 246 Republicans, 187 Democrats and two American Laborites to 261 Democrats, 168 Republicans and one American Labor Party member, with five races still undecided.

On the basis of incomplete returns, Thurmond, the Governor of South Carolina, carried four States—Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, and South Carolina, with a total of 38 electoral votes.

States making up Mr. Truman's anticipated 304 electoral votes are: Arizona 4, Arkansas 9, California 25, Colorado 6, Florida 8, Georgia 12, Idaho 4, Illinois 28, Iowa 10, Kentucky 11, Massachusetts 16, Minnesota 11, Missouri 15, Montana 4, Nevada 3, New Mexico 4, North Carolina 14, Ohio 25,

THE BLACK CAT

By The Roving Reporter

During the hurricane in Florida, a woman was terribly upset and couldn't sleep a wink. But her husband was sleeping as if nothing unusual was happening.

"Finally she woke him up. 'Darling,' she said, this house is rocking, as if it were going to blow away."

"O, go to sleep," he said. "What difference does it make—we only rent it."—Boston Globe's daily story.

Rockland's Black Cat is too, too conservative, implying that barber shops only display last year's magazines for whiling away that hour long wait before the clippers are ready for you. Why, the latest magazine issues we saw in our barber shop last time were copies of the "Youth's Companion" and the old Literary Digest. "When Barber Watts arrived at his place of business the other morning he was dismayed to find that he did not have his keys," The Black Cat writes. "But going to the door from force of habit he was amazed to find the shop full of customers. The secret was out when he found what he had left the keys in the lock over night. Only to think that somebody might have stolen those last year's magazines." — Lewiston Journal State Chat.

The Rockland lobster fisherman who bet $5 on Truman, and disdained to take any odds, either had the courage of his convictions, or doubts as to the barber's judgment. Shaves will cost Fred very little money this Winter.

Shortly before election the Fashion Foundation of America announced that Gov. Dewey was one of the 10 best dressed men in America. Hae it been able to induce the New York executive to part with that dinky moustache he might have carried a few more States.

Those Non-Eaters on Vinalhaven intrigue us. We won't be satisfied until we attend one of their modest eight course "luncheons."—Lewiston Journal State Chat.

We who have partaken of Vinalhaven cookery know what a misnomer that club has.

Winter's just around the corner. The Old Farmer's Almanac arrived this morning with gobs of information between its brown covers.

[EDITORIAL]

THE CAUSES AND THE MYSTERY

One does not have to look far to solve the mystery of President Truman's overwhelming victory. First there was the Taft-Hartley labor bill, which spelled trouble for the Republican party from the moment it was passed, although the backing of Democratic Congressmen made its passage possible. The bill contained some excellent legislation, designed to benefit the public at large, but it was viewed with distrust and suspicion by those whom it was calculated to benefit, and with extreme hatred by many of the union leaders.

Equally potent was the attack which President Truman launched against the last Congress, containing just enough truth to awaken an affirmative reaction on the part of his listeners. Nobody ever tosses many bouquets at a Congressional session, and certainly they did not to the one which closed last Spring, and which faced such a bewildering array of problems that it was scarcely to be blamed.

The third reason—an age-old one—was the arraying of class against class. President Truman again and again repeated that the Democratic party was the party of the plain people while the Republicans were working in behalf of the wealthy. It was an old, old trick, worked successfully in every campaign for a century, and having its undoubted effect upon a new generation of listeners.

One of the things which strikes us as odd is the fact that four years ago Gov. Dewey was blamed for his blunt attacks upon President Roosevelt, yet in the past few weeks audiences were applauding even more radical attacks which President Truman was making against Dewey and the Republican party. Consistency, they are a jewel.

While the explanation of Republican defeat seems clear enough, reading the above, even greater is the thoroughness with which the underground worked clear across the continent. The experts were all foretelling a Dewey victory on an enormous scale; the gamblers were betting on him as high as 15 to 1; and the polls everywhere were foretelling such a Republican victory that everybody was wondering what states Truman might be able to carry. To the experts, the gamblers and the poll-takers we feel like saying, "Go jump into the lake!"

A great deal of stress was being laid by the election night broadcasters upon the popular vote, and it shows, what? It shows that in a total of nearly 45,000,000 votes, Dewey was behind by less than two million, and a review, State-by-State reveals that a change of only a few thousand votes in several of them, would have given Dewey an easy majority in the Electoral College.

But it's all over. The Democrats have captured the Presidency, the U. S. Senate and the House of Representatives—captured almost single-handed by Harry Truman's vigorous campaign in which he had scarcely more than the moral backing of his skeptical followers.

FARMERS' INCOMES THREATENED

The Department of Agriculture has been studying various phases of the Nation's farm economy, and sees a less rosy future for the rural workers than the boom times they have known since the beginning of World War 2, especially in the grain producing States of the Middle West. The Department's findings are thus analyzed—

1. Farmers' net income, on the up-grade for several years now, may soon begin to turn downward.

2. Farm costs, which have risen sharply but less steeply than income, can be expected to eat up more and more of the farmers' cash returns as income gains slow down and expenses continue to rise.

3. The farmers' "real" income, in terms of what his money will buy in family living, already is dropping and probably will decline further.

4. The value of farm real estate—at record or near-record peaks in many big agricultural regions—may be close to the limit of its upward march. Assuming continued high-level output in the U. S. economy, land value may go up or down 10 percent from here on. If a recession should occur, the farmer is warned to look for a slide of as much as 20 percent.

5. Farm real estate debt on Jan. 1 this year was 26 percent below the total outstanding in 1940. But there are signs the wartime and postwar trend toward debt reduction is being reversed.

Seeking City Seats

Domenic Cuccinello Is a Candidate For the School Board

Domenic Cuccinello, who recently opened an office for the practice of law in this city, following graduation from the law school of Syracuse University, announced his candidacy for the Rockland School Board Thursday. Nomination papers are in circulation in his behalf.

A graduate of Rockland High School, he was office manager at the Algin Corporation until his entry into the Army at the outset of the war. During his Army service he was attached to the Judge Advocate General's Department and saw duty in Africa and Italy. Following the war, he attended the University of Maine and later transferred to Syracuse from which he graduated last February.

Second candidate for the School Board is Dr. Donald E. Haskell, Rockland chiropractor, whose papers have been in circulation for several days and who has been a candidate for the board in past elections.

I. Lawton Bray, secretary of the Rockland Loan & Building Association, now has nomination papers in circulation for the vacant seat on the Rockland School District Trustees. Bray served on the committee which was instrumental in placing the referendum on the Rockland School District before the voters last year and carrying it to passage by the citizens.

Papers for Charles E. Bicknell, 2d, who last week announced that he would run for re-election to the City Council, are now in circulation.

tion. He has served a one year term, which was the completion of the three year term of Edward C. Moran, resigned. He now seeks a full three year term.

Carl M. Stipphen, Rockland undertaker, is running for the second vacancy on the City Council, open by the decision of Albert C. McLoon not to seek re-election.

Others may file papers for nomination to various offices before the deadline which is midnight Saturday.

Nomination papers bearing the name of C. Maxwell Ames for membership on the School Board were in circulation Thursday. Ames, a veteran of World War 2, is married, an employee of the First National Bank of Rockland, and served last year as finance officer of Winslow-Holbrook-Merritt Post, American Legion.

At present, a contest is promised for the two School Board seats with three candidates, Ames, Cuccinello and Haskell seeking the position. Other vacancies, the City Council and School District Trustees, have just enough candidates to fill the vacancies.

Carl Stipphen has completed the filing of the nomination papers required by law and is listed for publication on the ballot. I. Lawton Bray has completed and filed one nomination paper and is yet to complete his filing.

The recent item in The Courier-Gazette in regard to the visit of five Rockland ladies to the Hyde Home for Crippled Children, Bath, with Mrs. Dorothy Carney as driver of the auto, brought in $2 remittances for the last Easter Sale of Stamps for the benefit of the Home. It is hoped that this will be a reminder to other persons interested in this work as the Home needs funds to carry on. Mrs. Carney was the Rockland chairman of Easter Sales for 1948, and reported a considerable sum was received by her and turned over to Mrs. Burton Preston, chairman, Hyde Home for Crippled Children, Bath. Today, Mrs. Kenneth George of Pleasant street, is going to the Home with five other ladies to assist in helping with the children there. Each Friday of this month there is to be a group of Rockland women going over, under the Garden Therapy Plan of organization, although the work is not wholly under the auspices of the Garden Clubs; women from any organization may volunteer.

Rockland's Tigers play under the floodlights at Brewer stadium tonight, with game time scheduled for 7.30. Running to date with a far better showing in the win column than any Rockland football team for some time past, the boys are headed into something rough but have the abilities to make a game out of it before the final whistle. Brewer, highly rated and a powerful team, will face a team from here which plays a hard football game regardless of the odds placed against them by the dopsters before the kickoff. Speaking of dopsters, they seem to be generally discredited for the moment and may be wrong on their predictions as to the Rockland-Brewer outcome.

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and "Huckle and Buster" will be the stories told by Miss Barbara Lufkin at the story hour at the Public Library Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Daniel Lunt, Fisherman, Met Death By Drowning

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon from Russell Funeral Home for Daniel Lunt, 76, whose body was found Tuesday on the beach near railroad wharf at the South End. Services were conducted by Rev. John Barker of the Littlefield Memorial Church. Burial was in the Mountain View cemetery at City Farm.

The body was discovered about 1.15 p. m. Tuesday by Forest Gardner who was walking out on the remains of what was once railroad wharf, was lying face down on the rocks close to the wharf piling and completely out of the water. Gardner called the police who in turn notified the medical examiner, Dr. Charles D. North. Following preliminary examination on the scene, the body was removed to Russell Funeral Home where North again made an examination. It was identified by Sheriff C. Earle Ludwick.

Tuesday night, North stated that death, in his opinion, was caused by drowning but withheld an official verdict on the case until such time as police and sheriff's officers could complete an investigation, he said they had started.

Lunt had made his home for some time at the American House. He was at one time a fisherman but is understood to have been unemployed for some time.

Before burial, Dr. North rendered a verdict of death by accidental drowning in the case.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Rena Rice of Rockland; brothers, Jasper of Portland and Edward of Long Island, Me.; and a sister, Miss Viney Lunt of Portland.

In Municipal Court

Wednesday, Earl Allen of Cumberland Mills pleaded guilty to passing on a hill and paid a fine of $10. Trooper Upton of the State Police testified that Allen, driver of a truck, passed his car and a bus at the foot of Creek Hill in Thomaston where there was not sufficient view of the road ahead to insure complete safety.

J. Allison Bracy and Richard Howard, both of Warren, were arrested this week on charges of night hunting and having loaded weapons in their car, by Inland Fish and Game Warden Peeney and Snow. Each was fined $100 on the night hunting charge and paid costs of court of $2 on the loaded weapons charge, a $10 fine being suspended by the court.

Eugene Mitchell of Warren was fined $10 and costs of court on charges of failing to have an inspection sticker on his car.

William Waters of South Thomaston was fined $20 and costs of $20 on charges of operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license.

The Farnsworth Art Museum is exhibiting this week etchings, lithographs and woodcuts by five New England artists, most of whom work in Maine.

Mountain Man

Do you like to go adventuring? If you do, you will like the new narrative poem "Mountain Man," by Verne Bright, printed in limited edition by the Caxton Printers (Caldwell, Idaho, $5), the first extensive, great poem of any theme identical with the genesis of Oregon. It offers adventures in beauty and distinction, presented as it is, in unusual "typographical comeliness." And it offers a glowing account—exhibition—of bright scenes along its magnificent path.

"The white clouds creeping the highways of the air."

It also invites adventure in reading about for the rediscovery of simplicity and truth, as they are enjoyed by those who value beauty. It is an epic of art.

Cowbells' tinkled low as Jeff Boone, grandson of old Daniel Boone, leaped, with unrest in his heart, on the Missouri pasture bars.

"The dew-cool air spiderwebbed with mist."

And listened to himself say to Margaret Byrne:

"Fine gypsen-kit of a girl like you And a no-count brash of a lad like me, should wed."

But before they wed Jeff said: "Over yon's the mountains—'Where out's where I aim to go,'

"a spang-new land has never felt the plow."

He lived the life of the mountain man, swagging at rendezvous before he trapped the beaver, before the slow sun rolled an ashen wheel on the mountains of the sky."

"ears quick to the tread of moccasins."

But back in Missouri, where Margaret lived,

"the wind ran across the grass with little cries," the poem in simplicity and sincerity dealing with the tragedy that came to her as a result of one who became a mountain man. Yes, the poem is like a "glowworm crawling on the world's rim," ecstatic, ecstatically caught and designed.

Scholars believe that the gypsy tribes which have been wandering across Europe since the 15th century are remnants of an ancient tribe from India.

The new president, Mrs. Priscilla Jameson, presided and a paper on the history of the club was given by Mrs. Hope Gilmore. This is the 33rd year of the club. It was started in 1885 by Mrs. Henry Alden, as a reading club, with a membership of 10 or 12. Formal organization took place at a banquet at the Old Bay View House, the site of which is now the Village Green, in 1885. Mrs. Gilmore read from the records several accounts of Open Meetings—musicals, banquets at the Bay View House, an excursion by buckboard to the Mt. Battle Summit House and the observance of the 20th anniversary of the club held at Norumbega. Among the civic enterprises reviewed was a course of lectures instigated by the club in the 1880's, its activities connected with the Public Library Building Fund, and with Red Cross during World War I. It was gleaned from the Club's records that the only breaks in the regularity of meetings were two meetings in 1918 because of the influenza epidemic, and three meetings in 1932 because of an epidemic of smallpox. At the conclusion of Mrs. Gilmore's reading, Mrs. Blanche Robinson, the oldest member, was presented with a corsage of red roses by the Club. Mrs. Robinson, now an honorary member, joined the Club in 1886. She had served as secretary, also as president, in addition to contributing generously to the musical programs over the years. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Adams, assisted by Mrs. Lida Reed. MRS. IRVING TUTTLE

The death Nov. 2 of Mrs. Irving Tuttle at her home in Union is a severe loss to her friends, to the town of Union and to Rockland. She had been poorly since a serious operation in July, 1947.

Mabel Tuttle spent her early life in Parkersburg, West Virginia, where she worked up to a position of trust and responsibility as office manager for Seward Wire Co., being a real "career girl" when she married Dr. Tuttle in June, 1936.

Making their home in Union she soon made her personality felt. With more time than most, due to her health, she was a great reader—not, however of fiction, but the great books of the past as well as the more current. A lover of music and a good pianist, she was an important factor in the Knox County Community Concert organization and a great worker for the same. Politics and the League of Women Voters was another of her interests. In fact, she was one of those rare people interested in everything and everybody. A tireless worker in the Union Methodist Church and all community projects, her counsel was sought by many and her advice, always freely given, was invaluable.

In the words of the poet, "None knew her but to love her."

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Union Methodist Church, Rev. Harold L. Nutter officiating. Bearers will be Leland S. McElwee, Ole Payson, Kennedy Crane, Seth Low, Dr. C. Harold Jameson and Lincoln E. McRae.

BURNEY JONES

Burney Jones, 59, well known amateur operator, who made his home at 267 1/2 Park street, died in a Rockland hospital Thursday morning. Funeral plans have not been completed.

He has a sister living in New Jersey who has been contacted and who has not seen him since he was 18 years of age. While the father and brothers are thought to be living, their whereabouts are not known. The body is in the care of Russell Funeral Home.

Leftover macaroni, cold diced meat and a cheese sauce may be combined to make a casserole dish; top with grated cheese.

Farm Bureau Notes

With the threat of another war hanging over us, the people of the United States are in favor of the idea that this country should have the strongest air force in the world.

However economy-minded members of Congress, and the rank and file of the people as well, are strongly of the opinion that we should have one United States Air Force instead of two. This does not seem to be in line with the thinking of the Navy Department, which is maneuvering for an air force all its own, with all that this implies in divided authority and numerous duplications of cost.

Here is a subject that is worthy of the best thought of former President Hoover and his committee which after long study and investigation, will soon report its findings and recommendations on the reorganization of the executive department of the Government, with a view to achieving greater efficiency and economy.

That today's dollar is worth only about 50 cents is shown by the fact that it will cost nearly twice as much to put up and tear down the stands for the presidential inaugural next January as it did in 1941.

David Lynn, architect of Capitol, recently let contracts for this work calling for $79,372. In 1941 the cost of the same service, including invitations and incidentals, was $41,637.

According to the latest findings, the farmer is now getting 51 cents out of every dollar that the consumer spends for food. The other 49 cents go for transportation and distribution.

The heat wave that gripped a large part of the nation during the latter part of August inflicted heavy damages upon vegetable crops. String beans suffered especially in New York, Michigan and Wisconsin. Sweet corn and tomatoes were also considerably damaged over wide areas. For tomatoes the heat stroke was in the nature of a second blow. The crop was damaged in the Middle Atlantic states by too much rain during the early part of August.

The Farnsworth Art Museum has taken its place in the public school system in that through its facilities students in the High School are receiving regular instruction in art. Mrs. Marion Podkova, art instructor in the schools, has been extended the use of the large, completely equipped north light gallery on the museum's top floor for the classes.

The need of art classes has been felt for some years in the High School but there was not space in the building to allow the permanent establishment of an art classroom.

Director James Brown of the Museum has been instrumental in the establishment of the classes and may make the art workroom available to an evening class which Mrs. Podkova is planning for High School students whose classroom schedule will not permit them to attend the daytime classes.

At present 22 students are availing themselves of the opportunities offered and are divided into two classes which meet during the mornings.

In addition to the studios, the art students have available to them the art library of the museum for reference and, of course, the opportunity to study the works of art exhibited in the museum's galleries.

Present classes are working in pencil, pen and ink and water color on projects in the beginners stages of art studies. The students will be taken progressively through the more advanced stages until they have received a well rounded basic art training.

The Supreme Court is back in session after its Summer recess. Key sections of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law will probably be ruled in for the first time by this court of last appeal. "Oyez, oyez, oyez!" Let there be silence until the court speaks.

A Rockland Boy Down In Georgia In New Type Of Basic Training

Richard Copeland, son of Mrs. Winifred P. Copeland, 668 Main street, Rockland, is one of a group of selected soldiers completing the new type basic training at the Infantry, Fort Benning, Ga.

Unlike training given millions of men during World War II, the new concept, as expressed by Major Gen. Withers A. Burress, Commanding General of the Infantry Center, Fort Benning, is designed to make the new Army more attractive to men coming in, either volunteer or inductee. For the group now training at Benning, a specially trained cadre of picked officers and men were carefully selected and the young soldiers are being trained under some of the principals advocated at the Universal Military Training Center, Fort Knox, Ky.

Although the new men are given the required basic Infantry course to familiarize them with weapons and how to live in the field, a huge educational, recreation and athletic program was set up before their arrival at Benning to make their eight weeks' stay more enjoyable. All recreational facilities of the post, considered by many the most complete in the Army, were available to them. In addition, a service club, theatre and post Exchange were opened for their exclusive use. Weekly dances were held and organizations in nearby Columbus, Ga., gave supervised parties and other social affairs for them.

Part of their educational program were frequent classes and lectures on current world affairs, duties of the individual soldier and requirements of good citizenship.

An athletic program including baseball, softball, swimming, boxing, volleyball and other sports were set up and they held their own intermural championship tournaments.

Upon completion of training at Benning, the men will be assigned to various divisions and other units now or about to be activated where they will continue training as members of those organizations.

For College Paper

Rockland Student At New York University Is Writing

Philip Magitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Magitz of Maple street, who wrote a prize-winning essay during his Senior year in Rockland High School is continuing his literary work with the New York University Heights Daily News. Under the caption "Record Review" he contributed the following to the current issue.

Ranking foremost among current classical record releases is the new (not a re-issue) pressing of Maurice Ravel's Bolero, which replaces the sad old 1930 version by the same orchestra. The Boston Symphony, and the same conductor, Serge Koussevitsky. It is brilliantly performed this time, and both orchestra and conductor seem to have found a new excitement in the work, a relief from its usually hackneyed "war-horse" treatment.

The recording engineers, in this case, really deserve special honors, since the recording was made up at the Berkshire Music Festival, Tanglewood, Mass., (a Koussevitsky-inspired and directed music camp) in the gigantic, semi-outdoors Music Shed. Recording here is made difficult by echoes, distortions, and other acoustical plagues.

Nevertheless, these are kept down to the bare minimum by the recording staff. The main melody—it has often been termed "one of the 10 best-known melodies of all time." Suffice it to say, then, that here is vigorous, cosmopolitan music, well worth a record collector's further investigation. (R. C. A. Victor DM-1220, $3.50 or vinylite V-18, $5.00).

Before passing on the hep side, mention must be made of the sparkling new version of George Gershwin's "An American in Paris" just released by Victor, featuring the versatile young Leonard Bernstein conducting the RCA Victor Symphony Orchestra. Devotees of New York's favorite composer's music will want this one—it has everything which the only other available recording (Rodzinski and the New York Philharmonic—Columbia MX246) has not got; that is, youth, sparkle, and above all, the benefit of a rich, clean recording. (RCA Victor DM-1237, $3.50).

And now for the newest releases in the "Hot Jazz" series. It is called "Louis Armstrong and Jack Teagarden," and both are heard vocally and instrumentally on trumpet and trombone respectively, in such perennial favorites as "St. James Infirmary Blues," "Ain't Misbehavin'," "Ole Rockin' Chair," etc. The recordings were made a few years back during the course of a jazz concert at Town Hall, and as each side concludes, the actual applause and bravos accorded the artists by the audience, can be heard.

In the singles department, we recommend Stan Kenton's bang-up job on "Bongo Riff" coupled with "Willow Weep For Me" as the most blood-pulsing example extant, of what he chooses to call "progressive jazz." If you thing be-bop is wild, listen to Capital record 15179 ($7.99) and change your mind.

Swine Influenza

A Timely Warning Is Issued By the Animal Health Foundation

Chilly and changeable weather of Fall and early Winter can lead to serious losses among droves of swine, according to a warning to farmers.

"Unless hogs are given the proper shelter," the American Foundation for Animal Health declared, "the farmer is taking a gamble with a possible outbreak of swine influenza. Flu losses this season could be especially costly."

Swine influenza is an acute, fast-spreading disease caused by the combined action of a virus and a germ, the Foundation explained. One of the chief problems with swine flu is the fact that it weakens pigs and makes them easier prey to cholera, enteritis and similar diseases.

The virus and germ seem to cause trouble principally where swine are improperly housed, or dry, well-bedded, well-ventilated, draft-free quarters are therefore vital precautions against this disease.

Farmers also were cautioned to watch their pigs for the first signs of an influenza outbreak—symptoms like listlessness, loss of appetite, coughing, labored breathing and watery eyes.

"Immediate diagnosis and careful nursing help to insure recovery, and also help prevent spread of the disease to the rest of the herd and help prevent deaths from secondary complications," the Foundation said.

SERMONETTE

Onward, Not Backward

III

In the early days of this State, men believed in God and as a whole, endeavored to keep His holy laws. They were written into the body of the statutes. Doubtless in many of the so-called blue laws they went too far for modern civilization.

In the fifth chapter of Deuteronomy, Moses talked to Israel. "He reminded him that the Lord, our God, made a covenant with them at Horeb. He made not this covenant with our fathers, but with us, who are all of us here alive this day. Let us take the one we are discussing today. 'Keep the Sabbath day to sanctify it.' Then he defines that they may or may not do. No blue law could exceed Moses' understanding of what was binding upon his people. The Jews today, thousands of years afterward, are bound by it.

It would not be true to say all men kept the Sabbath holy in the early days, for men who do not believe in God, of necessity, are not bound by His laws, but communities, so far as possible, did remember the Sabbath day and observed it differently than people today.

I remember well my first visit to the Middle West. I was in Detroit when one of the party said to me, "This is Sunday. I want you to go with me and see the Continental Sunday." We went down into the city. The theatres and moving pictures were running, dance halls, lunch rooms, many stores. The people came from the movies, went to the churches, back to the theatres or to dance.

It was not so when I was a boy in Rockland, but it is exactly that in Portland today. I live in a neighborhood which faces what was built for a stadium for the Portland High School. It has been much enlarged and now is a place for public games. Sundays, mornings and afternoons and clear up to midnight, it abounds in bands, cheer leaders, Kleig lights, loud speakers and howling mobs. Movies are open and the New England's holy Sabbath has departed.

Have people outlived God's care, or didn't He know that men needed the Sabbath when He bound His people to observe it? Many churches have abandoned the prayer meeting as unmoded. Juvenile delinquency, as any judge will tell you, stems from the home.

William A. Holman.
